

A Few Words for Turnersville.

To the Editor of the Interior Journal.

We dare say that not one word has ever been published in behalf of our little town of Turnersville. Though it is one of the earliest settled places of Lincoln, yet as to its exact date of settlement, the writer is unable to learn even from our oldest citizens. So we give a few modern sketches concerning the progress of its religious, social and commercial interests.

Turnersville being unfortunately located (from a commercial view) to where as yet, no railroad has found its way, shadows have been thrown over its commercial interests by the inclination of people to drift toward its neighboring railroad towns caused mainly by that peculiar attraction of railroads, and partly by the little interest taken in the past by its business men in not supplying their stocks with more complete lines of merchandise and thereby forcing its citizens on some occasions to visit other towns, but as this state of affairs no longer exists, the place is rapidly improving. Admitting that its neighboring towns have had these advantages, we are glad to feel that in all other respects, Turnersville remains upon an equal footing with any towns of corresponding size. It has four churches, two Christian, one Methodist, one Baptist, all of which have regular services from once to twice per month and frequently oftener, attended by large audiences generally. They also conduct interesting Sunday schools. As to the progress of one we are able to testify, as we have visited the school and can say that we have never observed more profound interest in any Sunday school. Good reports come likewise from the other schools. Prayer meetings are also being conducted by some of the churches. There are two schools in the place, which have each year a term of five months and generally an additional term from three to five months, one of which has at present a school in session. The parents are at least awake to a high sense of educational duties toward their children and when they find higher grades of instruction necessary than can be obtained in Turnersville, they do not hesitate to enter their children in higher schools, which we feel proud to say, can be found in our own county at either Stanford or Hustonville.

The Old Fellows have a lodge in the place and from appearances, the co-operation of this people into that wonderful secret organization promotes pleasure, charity, peace and good to all men.

There is now in full operation an excellent grist mill, of which it has been said, that one must take to it an additional empty sack to the one full of grain, in order to save an extra trip back for the balance of his grinding. At least we will guarantee that you will not be forced to leave the mill without getting any of the proceeds of your grain and possibly even your empty sack. There are two blacksmith shops, also two carriage shops in the place, all of which claim to be in successful operation. We are sure that we have as good workmen as can be found in the country. The new post-office has proven even a greater convenience to the people than expected. As to the merchandise business it is wonderful to see the marked improvement in the last four or five months. The people seem proud that their wants can now be supplied at home with more convenience, less expense and if possible even upon better terms.

Last but not least, Turnersville is surrounded by one of the most prosperous farming neighborhoods, possessing the most fertile soil that can be found in all the country, owned and cultivated by wide awake, industrious, honest farmers, whose aspiration is that none may excel them in their products either quantity or quality and who also take great pride in live stock. Then why with all these advantages should Turnersville not prosper?

To one and all we are glad to welcome you into our churches, Sunday schools, prayer meetings, entertainments, and also into our homes, to all of which we shall be more than glad to have you come.

S. E. OLIVER.

CLINTON, TEXAS.—Mr. M. G. Cash, in sending his subscription for another year, says "the INTERIOR JOURNAL is to me like a letter from home twice a week and I can't afford to do without it. I have been a subscriber since Cep Campbell used to edit it way back in the early '70s. It has been very dry here until the 21st inst., when we had a very good rain, the first of consequence since last August. It came too late to save wheat, most of which is entirely lost. Oats are badly damaged. We have hopes now, however, of good corn and cotton. Prospects for fruit of all kinds good, but very backward. The above has reference to this section of country, I don't know how it is in other portions of the State. With good wishes to you and all my Kentucky friends."

Burke, Jr. Mrs. Rice will in the future reside in New York City, where her husband has been appointed passenger and ticket agent of the C. & O. Miss Maggie Pleasant is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. Lock, at Maywood. Messrs. W. E. Perkins and W. A. Carson have gotten back from the city, where they purchased a handsome line of new goods. Col. W. G. Welch and J. W. Guest spent part of the week in Crab Orchard. This being the birth place of both gentlemen, they naturally enjoy a visit here occasionally.

Dr. Payne, Jr., Mr. W. C. Hutchings and Mr. G. D. Willis moved to Livingston this week. Dr. Payne to practice his profession, Mr. Hutchings to engage in the drug business and Mr. Willis to engage in the jewelry business. Success to them.

DEATH'S DOINGS.

—Col. W. G. Welch received a dispatch Sunday morning informing him of the death of his sister, Mrs. E. T. Rochester, at Dallas, Texas. She had been in delicate health for a long time, but a fatal termination of her diseases was not considered as probable, so the shock of the announcement was all the keener felt. Mrs. Rochester was Miss Emma Virginia Welch and was 56 years of age. Her first husband was Mr. Henry Helm and one child, who is now Mrs. John T. Gano, was born to them. Her second husband, Capt. E. T. Rochester, and four children survive her to suffer the loss of a faithful wife and devoted mother. A member of the Presbyterian church and a woman of fine mind and attractive presence, she was enabled to do great good for her Master's cause. She has many friends here, who will sorrow over her death and feel a deep sympathy for those most seriously affected by it. The remains were interred at Dallas yesterday, where she and family went to live a year or two ago, but they will ultimately be brought here for final interment.

SENATOR BLACKBURN is a "feenancier" with a big F, and what he doesn't know he guesses at. How is this for a statement from a man who represents the great State of Kentucky in the House of Lords? "Inside the mechanical realm gold and silver both have intrinsic value, but when taken out and adapted for the purpose of a function which we call money, their intrinsic value disappears utterly and the only value that attaches is that which is measured by the public confidence reposed in the ability and the integrity of purpose of the government that issues them." Until so informed by this eminent authority, we common people were of the impression that real money stood on its own merit and that the stamp was merely the guarantee that the coin had so many grains of fineness. If the Senator is right, aluminum, paper or any other cheap material would be better and handier for a circulating medium.

THE INTERIOR JOURNAL has no favorite for a candidate for the Legislature and is only interested in the success of the party, which recent developments show is in as bad a fix in Lincoln county as elsewhere. What we want is a good man, a true democrat and one who can command the respect of all classes and unite the factions and lead us to victory. We believe that such a candidate can be secured if the precinct conventions, which by the way, will be held at the voting places as now constituted, will send their best men to the convention unimpaired, except to impress on them the importance of nominating the most available man for the contest. Send men who are thoroughly imbued with party success and let them counsel together, untrammelled by any pledges or instructions, and we are sure they can name a candidate acceptable to all factions.

THE election committee of the Tennessee Legislature reports that it found enough fraudulent votes to give Turney a plurality of 2,358, instead of 574 for Evans, on the face of the returns. It finds that 22,389 ballots were illegal, 9,733 of which were cast for Turney for governor and 12,656 for Evans. The five republicans on the committee will make a minority report attacking the constitutionality of the poll tax law and condemning the investigation as unfair and incomplete.

SPEAKER CHASE has declared for the free coinage of silver and for a Western man for president. He thinks some good man, with a military record and identified with the dominant sentiment that now controls the party, can lead it to victory again, but the financial issues must be met squarely. He says the time has not come yet for the party to nominate a Southern man and for that reason he favors a Western man.

THE Dutch impostor, Schweinfurth, of Rockford, Ill., who claims to be the Messiah, is getting knocked out on every round. A judgment for $50,000 damages against him will cause his "heaven" to be sold by the sheriff, and now the grand jury has indicted him for open concubinage with the angels. It is passing strange that a decent and civilized community has tolerated the fraud so long.

Gov. BROWN rushes to the footlights to say that he is for the free and unlimited coinage of silver, with the time-honored ratio of 16 to 1, independent of international agreement. He will be a candidate for U. S. Senator on that platform and about the middle of May will make a speech fully setting forth his views on State and National questions.

It doesn't look like hard times, when a few pictures by the old masters sold in New York Friday for $191,787.50, one by Van Dyck, "The Marchese De Spinola and her Little Daughter," bringing $50,000. This is but another evidence of what fools we mortals be, when we've got more money than we know what to do with.

SENATOR BLACKBURN attempts to laugh Gov. McCreary out of court and claims that he is toting water on both shoulders on the silver question, but he laughs best who laughs last. Gov. McCreary is for sound money and if we are not mistaken in the sentiment of the people of Kentucky that will prove a winning issue.

A MON in Washington county hung a negro named George Ray because of his "general cussedness." Every one of the men engaged in the cowardly business is a murderer and the courts should use all their power to bring them to the same death they gave their victim.

A NEGRO hung at Abbeville, S. C., Friday, remarked just before the trap was sprung that he would eat dinner in heaven, but unless there was watermelon for desert, he was doubtless disappointed with the menu.

EDITOR DAINS, of the Middlesboro News, has announced himself a candidate for the republican nomination for commissioner of agriculture. Until he located in the Magic City, Mr. Dains didn't know enough about farming to tell whether pumpkins grew on trees or stalks, but since cultivating lots that sold for $500 a front foot, he has caught on so fast that he now thinks he knows it all and is ready to give the hayseeds all the information they want at a salary of $2,000 a year.

Gov. MATTHEWS, of Indiana, takes seriously the suggestion made jocosely that he be made the democratic standard bearer for president next year and intimates that he is a willing Barkie. The governor shouldn't permit his head to be turned by such flattery, but tarry in Jericho till his head be grown.

THERE is a man in Montgomery, W. Va., named Stepladder. It ought to be easy work for him to scale the dizzy heights of fame.

There will be five or more races each day, with liberal added money, insuring large fields and exciting contests. The Kentucky Derby will be run on the opening day, Monday, in which about 10 will go to the post, including Laureate, Galon d'Or, Basso, Halma, Curator and other good ones. —Mr. James Duddar says this has been the finest April for crops he remembers in his rather long life and that he never saw the prospects better. He doesn't think there will be any peasche to speak of, but of apples there will be no end unless a frost comes later, which is not likely.

This is the way the Somerset Reporter calls Chief of Police Jumbo Hughes' attention to an existing state of affairs: "Rats, Jummy, rats—plenty of them, dead ones on the public square. They stink."

The weather is and has been for a week all that the hardest to please could desire. The only objection that might be urged is that it is rather too warm. "Increasing cloudiness" is the forecast for Tuesday.

STOLEN CORN.—A couple of negroes, Wm. Lee and Pindexter were tried before Judge W. L. Dawson, Friday, charged with stealing corn from J. Perry Ballard and held to circuit court in $100 each. Lee found a bondman, but Pindexter still languishes in durance vile. In the absence of the county attorney, Mr. W. A. Tribble represented the Commonwealth.

The trial of John Hamner for the killing of Mack Moore has occupied the Boyle circuit court since Friday and the case will not get to the jury till to-day. The prosecution attempted to prove that Hamner had killed Moore several hours before he claims to have done so and for the purpose of robbing him, while Hamner swore he was trying to break into his house. Judge Breckinridge is assisting Messrs. Owsley and Harding in the prosecution.

HENRY LOGAN, colored, who has been before the courts so often, that he thinks of taking out license to practice law, was fined $50 before Judge Willis Barnett for drunkenness and disorderly conduct at Rowland Friday. After getting full he proceeded to take the town, cursing and abusing all with whom he came in contact, including Mr. Waverly Hamilton. He finally struck a snag in Col. W. H. Dudderar, who laid the side of his head open, with the butt of his gun. He is in jail and will work the fine out.

SHOOTING.—Howard Deatherage and Sherman Bruce, both colored, engaged in a shooting at Millersville Saturday morning, in which both of them were wounded. Bruce had been showing marked attention to Deatherage's wife, notwithstanding Deatherage had frequently warned him of it, and when they met the shooting began. A dozen or more shots were fired, and considering the fact that they were only about 10 feet apart, it is remarkable that one or both of them was not killed. Bruce was shot in the mouth and back and was too badly hurt to be brought to jail, but Deputy Sheriff R. M. Newland placed Deatherage behind the bars Saturday afternoon. He is shot in the hip and left arm and a ball was removed from his hip by Dr. O'Bannon after he was placed in jail. The trial is set for 10 A. M. to-morrow.

ALMOST without exception those who put confidence in Western banks have rued it. Some not only lost all their stock, but had to pony up a further amount to pay depositors, while others lost half their holdings as in the First National of Fort Scott, Kansas, run by the Chenaults. A great deal of stock in the Metropolitan National of Kansas City, of which R. W. Hocker was president, is held here and recently the shareholders had to submit to a loss of a third of their stock to make up losses on bad debts. The reduced stock is now selling at 88 cents, with a little demand, and several of the stockholders here are unloading at that figure, a loss of 45 cent. fearing they may have to go still further in the hole. It is about as well to keep one's money at home and throw it to the birds as to invest it in the wild cat institutions of the West.

This is the third time I have asked you to settle your account. Do so at once. G. L. Penny, Exor.

All kinds of blacksmithing and wheelwright work done cheap for cash. Horses shod all round for 60 cents. No credit. William Daugherty.

We have added to our line of cook stoves something entirely new in a coal oil cook stove. Call in and see it. Higgins & McKinney.

Shirt waist sets and belt buckles are popular as ever. We have the finest line ever shown in Stanford. Goods all new. Danks, the jeweler.

I. MACK BRUCE will be in the field this year and will pay as much for your wool as anybody. He will receive and grade his wool himself at the depot.

The front of Severance & Son's store is being brightened up with paint and Dr. W. N. Craig is also having his brick house painted. Mr. J. S. Hughes is likewise adding to the beauty of his pretty residence.

Clothing you get at Shanks' fits. Clothing you get at Shanks' is cheap. Clothing you get at Shanks' is stylish. Clothing you get at Shanks' is fast in color. Clothing you get at Shanks' is all O. K. in every particular.

To stop the advance of the army worm Squire Murphy, who has had experience with them, says all you have to do is to turn your hogs on the advance column. They will eat them up in a wheat or any other field and not touch the plants.

A VERITABLE ADONIS is working the daily papers with dispatches from Richmond. The Cincinnati Enquirer, which is somewhat of a liar itself, being the greatest sufferer. The grand jury ought to investigate this matter and put a stop to it.

THOMAS LARLEY was tried at Rowland yesterday and fined $7 and costs, amounting in all to $15.55, for kicking Darst Barnett, the young son of Judge Willis Barnett. Mr. H. J. Darst acted as special judge. Mr. L. Larley was represented by Hon. J. N. Saunders and Judge Barnett by Hon. Harvey Helm.

JASON BLACKBERRY is nearly always in trouble, but he has a knack of getting out of his scrapes without suffering legal punishment. He has been before the Boyle court three times this term, once for murder, another time for shooting at officers and a third for cow stealing, and went acquit each time. In the last case he was jointly indicted with James Coeby, who also demonstrated to the jury, that he was guiltless of the charge. The Advocate says a big suit for damages will likely grow out of this case.

A LOCAL board of the Commercial Building Trust of Louisville, has been organized here by Mr. F. C. Brown, with the following officers: J. S. Owsley, Jr., president; J. E. Cummins, vice-president; J. S. Wells, secretary and treasurer. The directors are: J. A. Mudd, Peter Straub, Jr., and W. F. McClary. Hill & McRoberts are the attorneys. This company is highly recommended by bankers of Louisville, who say it is splendidly officered and conservatively managed. Its rapid growth in the last few years shows the great confidence that is reposed in it. The plan of this company differs from other building and loan institutions in that it has a capital stock, which stands as guarantee for the maturity of the preferred stock in seven years. For those who wish to lay up something gradually for a rainy day or those who have money to invest in the paid up stock, which bears 8 per cent. payable semi-annually, this company offers peculiar advantages and it will pay you to investigate.

COLORADO BAPTIZING.—More than 1,000 people saw Rev. G. W. Bolling wash the sins from 21 persons in Logan's Creek Sunday. The point selected was near Rowland, where the railroad and pike bridges span the stream and both structures, as well as all region round about, were covered with people, white and black. Before administering the ordinance, Mr. Bolling addressed the large crowd, after some effort in quieting it. He settled the question as to the proper mode of baptism, which he said had been agitating the minds of people for ages, by stating that he was about to perform it in the only way authorized by the Scriptures. "Jesus Christ," he said, "was a Baptist preacher and was baptized in the water. The passage in James which speaks of being baptized with water is a false translation. It should be in water. I want to say a word about this sanctification business. It is all right. Whenever you get an old fashioned case of nigger religion, you have got sanctification." Here some boys threw a stone in the creek, which interrupted the speaker who said: "If you do that again I'll have you put in jail to-morrow. This is my day." The baptizing began after prayer and a song, the candidates going in half dozens and waiting till their turn came, when the preacher would say, "Agreeable to your desire and in obedience to his command, I baptize you in the name of the Father, of the Son and of the Holy Ghost and Amen." As he uttered the last word he would put the subject under and then would follow a season of shouting, screaming, flopping in the water and gyrations innumerable, while the brethren tried vainly to calm the worked up converts. It was a strange, wiered scene, having its counterpart only in the white sanctification meetings recently held here.

The evidence is all in in the Fields-Adkins murder trial at Barbourville and three days will be given for the argument. The witness fees in the case amount to $10,800.
